Capture and Image Processing.

PatricksPhotos starts with a digital image capture from a state-of-the-art high resolution sensor. Photos are then scrutinized for flaws—usually posing errors, e.g. the model blinked at an inopportune time. Many photos are then artistically cropped—this is often the case with outdoor action shots and occasionally with studio images. Color balancing is common for underwater photos and photos involving black dogs. Skin blemishes are normally handled with makeup at the time of image capture. Some skin blemish removal can be done upon request.

Prints

Prints are made with a professional quality printer using an 8-color ink system and professional quality glossy photo paper. The ink used is claimed to have a lifetime of 30 years if kept behind glass or 100 years if kept in an archival quality album. Framed photos include custom cut mats with a carefully chosen color.

Large format prints are printed on 8.5x11 inch paper. Unless the image has been custom cropped the printed area corresponds to a mat opening of 7x10.5. Frames advertised as 10x13 are the smallest that work for this size print.

Huge size prints are also available. Huge is printed on 13x19 inch photo paper with a maximum print area of 12x18 inches. The appropriate advertised frame size is 18x24.

Smaller size prints are printed as either two or four on a 8.5x11 inch paper.

Slideshows

Slideshows are burned onto DVD disks in widescreen format. Disks typically include menu controls, appropriate titling, royalty free music background, and simulated motion effects. QuickTime format for playing on a computer screen is also possible.
