

FORT BRAGG, N. C.

July 21, 1942

Go.

I'm out of the hospital, back on duty with the company. Aside from a few pounds that I lost, I don't feel so bad. I hope this time I'm out of there for good. The hospital just doesn't appeal to me.

Was my letter explaining the allotment - clear? If not I'll explain further whenever we can write longer letters.

As you have probably seen by the envelope our ^{outgoing} mail is being censored. There is no sense in writing you a long letter being that we won't be gone to long.

What I have to tell you will keep anyway.

Let me know soon as you receive any money.

There really isn't much we can write for fear it is ~~something~~ we shouldn't write,
and be censored anyway.

So until we return I'll not write. Don't worry about me I'm all right. I will write more soon as we are allowed

Your brother
Geo.
