

The 2010 San Diego Reporter

Between and Between Edition- Happy New Year!

Vol 10, No. 1

Christmas Tree Worm on Brain Coral, Roatan

Greetings of the Seasonings: cumin, coriander, cayenne pepper, dill and paprika!

Eat, Play, Dive

This year's edition of the San Diego Reporter was somewhat delayed due to a staff incentive program to Roatan, Honduras. "They are such hard workers. They really deserve it," said Editor-in-Chief, P Staley of her worldwide network of cub reporters and amateur photographers.

To-Do List for 2011

Jan – Jim Morrison project - new doors.
Feb - Tucson Gem, Mineral & Fossil show – buy more sharks' teeth!!
March – build spare room to contain shark teeth & other fossil junk
April – try to hold marriage together while preparing taxes.
June – Two-week dive trip to Fiji. Stock up on Ambien for plane ride.
August – Attempt diving in San Diego, wimps.
Sept – Prof Staley begins 27th year at SWC.
Oct – East coast trip for pizza and family visit.
Nov – Try to avoid making T'giving dinner.
Dec – Return to Roatan

The Skating Staleys
Hotel Del Coronado

In Family News:

Michael & Nghi continue to tweak their casa bonita in their spare (?) time.

Justine is 5. She is honing her karaoke skills for a future career in case the brain surgeon thing doesn't work out.

Christopher turned two in Oct. He is being a feisty toddler and we are thrilled with that simple fact.

J.R. is rarely seen but word has it that he is plugging away at grad school and may segue right into PhD-ness. Eh, what's up Doc?

Stella's Corner: The humans are talking about getting a puppy. Wotthehell? I've been bringing home agility competition ribbons by the boatload. I guess you're only as good as your last performance. There was some mischief in the neighborhood recently so now they appreciate whenever I bark at anything that passes by our house. They say "I'm earning my keep." Yeah, right.

Wishing you all the Best in 2011!